

What makes us strive

ESHITHA ACHANTA (VIII-D)

Music, what is it?

Does this question drag you into a pit?
Tunes, melodies and more
Give me chills down the core

Music, not just singing a song
Come on it's not ping pong
Get ready we're going on a ride
After all it's a statement of our pride

Music it makes us strive
And one of the main reasons we're alive
No matter what others say
You will enjoy this day

THE BEAR WHO BOASTED

ANIKA DESAI (IV-G)

One day, the Bear said to the fox "It is a fine evening indeed. Will you walk with me, O Fox?". "Okay" said the fox. As soon as they began their walk the Bear started to boast. Now the Bear just had one fault, he loved to boast. The fox loved his friend dearly, but hated this one fault.

"We bears are the strongest of all." As the Bear continued, the Fox's ears started to pain. "Not only are we bears the strongest but also the cleverest" Soon they reached the edge of the wood forest and saw a woodcutter.

"Quick! Run! Let's go before he sees us!" said the fox. "No, I respect men." "What on earth are you saying?"

"Men are also as clever as bears. so we shouldn't kill them for food." "We bears are supervisors for men. We respect men even though we might kill them."

"This is my golden opportunity to teach the Bear a lesson. thought Fee

"You are very thoughtful indeed. So you respect a dead person. Boy tell me how to respect a dead man. don't you think if you really respected men you wouldn't kill at first."

The bear was ashamed and said, "I have to visit friends, the doctors." & went away

Moral: We should not boast about ourselves.

A QUEST FOR ORIGINALITY

CH. BHUVANAKRUTHI (IV - A)

Once upon a time in an enchanted land called the Crystal empire, there lived three best friends named Maya, Kate and Nayomi. They used to do everything together. One day, the princess of the crystal empire called them to go to a magic school. After a few days, when the three girls graduated, they were called on a mission to defeat the evil princess and bring back her original form. She was cursed to be the evil princess. One day, she stole a very important diamond and was locked away in the moon and the princess said to the group that they must bring back the evil princess's original form. The princess also said good luck with their task. Three girls set off on the road, they found the mystical diamond and they took it. When they reached the moon they did not know how to defeat her and then Kate said "We have to use the diamond and they defeated the evil princess and brought her back to her original form." (The princess of the mystical lands.) The gang returns to the earth with the princess and they said to the princess of the crystal empire that 'here you go we brought back the princess of the mystical lands.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

DHRUV D (VI - B)

Criticism is the expression of thoughts, opinions, and feedback either positive or negative. Positive or Constructive Criticism is when a person is providing positive feedback so that he/she can improve. Negative or Destructive Criticism is when someone bullies you on certain elements that sometimes you can't change.

We should learn to take destructive criticism positively. To do this you need to think of one positive side effect that can occur due to your disability. For example, when someone is criticizing your height, think of a good thing that comes out of being short. Maybe you could play a character younger than your age due to the height!

We should also be sensitive when giving feedback to others. Constructive criticism helps build a person whereas negative criticism may sound like bullying.

When giving constructive criticism, we should watch our tone as angry or a tone that ridicules may make the other person feel uncomfortable.

We should also believe in ourselves as this helps us overcome destructive criticism.

EK THA RUSTY- REVIEW

DHRUV DEVINENI (VI-B)

Ek Tha Rusty is a TV show made in the 1990s about the life of Ruskin Bond, India's Most Famous writer. It narrates the stories of his childhood and his ventures into the world of writing. It is based on various books written by him.

The story begins when Rusty is ten years old. He feels sad and lonely after the death of his father. He stays with his Grandma and Uncle Vicky while studying at the Mussoorie Boarding School. Tragically his Grandma dies while he goes on an adventure to run away from the boarding school with a friend from Kenya. He then goes to live with his mother and his Stepfather in Mussoorie. In Mussoorie, he meets Miss Mackenzie who gives him a book about the Himalayan flowers. He develops a great bond with the old lady who too is lonely. Tragically she dies a few days later due to pneumonia. Rusty now is plunged into sadness. But his life is soon filled with laughter and happiness from a multitude of friends he makes.

The story then moves on to Rusty's adventures as a writer. Rusty has just returned from England and has rented a cottage in Mussoorie to continue his career as a writer. Here he writes various stories from The Blue Umbrella to Getting Granny's Glasses. The series was fun and entertaining to watch and I highly recommend that you read the books or watch the series.

GLOBAL WARMING

S. LASYA PRIYA (V - F)

Global warming -Global warming is the change in climate conditions due to the increase of greenhouse gases such as carbon dioxide, methane, Sulphur, etc.

EFFECTS ON GLOBAL WARMING -

- Drought
- Shortage of drinking water
- Glaciers will melt
- Change in climatic conditions
- It Will have an impact on the hydro powerplant
- Life in the north pole will have an impact
- Increase in water level

Because the population of life is increasing on earth,

Global warming is also increasing day by day. so, if we want to reduce global warming then we have to recycle and reuse. And plant more trees so we can reduce carbon dioxide so we can save our Earth.

FOLLOW-UP ACTIVITY

AMSHA (VIII - F)

Homework known as a follow-up activity is an extension of what we have been taught in the classroom. We should cultivate the habit of doing HW daily instead of delaying and doing it on the weekend. MCQ's, WS, and notes are different parts of HW which benefit the students to cultivate practice as an extension of classroom learning as well as help the facilitator to assess the student.

ADVANTAGES:

- Subjects like Math, social, or science are not only where assignments are given. It also involves in learning or vision of the child on a particular activity. For example- Preparing a dish from a recipe book.
- Assessments help students to think beyond. It helps to develop their thinking capabilities, logical reasoning, arithmetic skills, and many more.
- HW gives students more opportunities like they can research on a particular topic, explore more, by studying deeply beyond what they have been taught in class, by participating they can bring laurels to the school.
- Educational field trips help to increase their learning and knowledge. They not only go there to get more knowledge but also have fun with their friends and teachers.
- Due to homework, it helps the child to plan their time accordingly to spend enough for studying and for their leisure time.
- It helps the teacher to know the student better on how much they understood the topic. The teachers get an idea of what subject or activity the students are interested in.
- Projects, Assignments, and WS minimum of 2 subjects not only help the teachers, the students but also the parents to get to know their or her learning. They also get to know what the child is studying in school. They also get to help, increase their knowledge by learning from the given HW to the children.

DISADVANTAGES:

- ➤ Assignment deadlines cause a jittery feeling to the students and sometimes cause a feeling of worry that can hinder the child's learning capability.
- ➤ Students also lose interest towards studies. It can be very frustrating for the child to do HW even after coming from school.
- ➤ Too much HW can cause a lack of sleep, appetite, exhaustion, and headache.
- ➤ During the pandemic, online classes are being conducted for 4-5 hours thus causing long hours of screen time which harms the student's eye.
- ➤ HW eats up most of the relaxation time of the student that they want to spend their time with families, play games, reading novels, art, and many more.
- ➤ From a teacher's point of view, the teachers are stressed to make notes, worksheets, to check if the student has done their work correctly. They have a pile of tasks to do. This is a very tough job for the teachers.

INCA'S LOST CITY " MACHU PICCHU "

RISHIT CHOUDHURY (VIII - A)

Peru is an underrated country in the continent of South America, however, it was known to have some part of the Amazon rainforest, but the main reason was the iconic " Machu Picchu ". From 1983 it was a UNESCO World Heritage, and in 2007 it was included in the list of the Seven Wonders. The meaning of Machu Picchu is " Machu " means old and " Picchu " means mountain , so Machu Picchu means an Old Mountain, Machu Picchu is a Quechua word. It is an ancient Incan city high in the Andes mountains, above the Urubamba River Valley, the area around Machu Picchu is rich in archaeological sites. It was a sacred place for the Incas. It was built by Inca Pachacutec in the mid 15th century, and it was abandoned in 1532 when the Spanish conquistador arrived, and the Incans escaped and never came back. The Inca empire was the largest in pre-Columbian America, the main administrative centre was in Cusco, they spoke the language Quechua. In Machu Picchu scientists found cave paintings of llamas that were drawn by the Incas, the Inca used the llamas as their domestic animal that provided them with milk, meat, and were also sacrificed to God. They had no cows, sheep, pigs, chickens or goats. Their only domesticated animals were llamas, alpacas and guinea pigs. Machu Picchu is a wonder because, earlier researchers thought it was a lost city like the Atlantis and can't be true, but then after 500 years it became true and so the lost city of the Incas was found and was, therefore, a wonder. People who go there can't resist themselves to forget the beautiful scenic river valley and of course the lost city of the Incas " Machu Picchu ".

MY VISIT TO OLD - AGE HOME

KAVYASHREE SAVARADA (VII - A)

Tuesday, 13 July 2021

8:30 P.M

Dear Diary

I am really happy today as I had this opportunity to visit the old age home with my classmates.

We went to the old age home by bus. There was an old man in the old age home who was sitting idle. We asked him for the reason and he began discussing his sorrows with us. One of them I remember is that his son lives abroad and never comes back to visit him. I felt really sad and thought of making the old man feel happy by doing some fun so that he could forget his sorrows. One of my friends brought a ball. We played with the ball for some time in the garden which was in front of the old age home. We got tired and then had a tasty lunch together. My friends had also brought some board games and we enjoyed playing them too. I think the old man enjoyed them too. I came back to my house at 7:00 pm by the same bus. We enjoyed ourselves a lot on the bus too.

I miss the old age home. It is like a golden memory that will always remain in my heart. The next time I will go there along with my family. Finally, it is like my dream come true to visit the old age home. It was a wonderful experience.

ONE SUNDAY MORNING....

A. ADITHI (VI - A)

I woke up to the Melodious chirping of the birds nesting on our Jamun tree. Just like every day I got myself freshen up and headed down stairs. When I was having my breakfast, I always wondered to myself how would our jamun tree be to the birds? Is it like it's home?? How would it be living on a tree? Is it like a tree house? I had this question in my mind CAN I CLIMB MY JAMUN TREE and pick few jamuns. I had to find an answer to this thought it would really be super adventurous and exciting as well and also i can have a bird view of my house.

So, later that day after having my breakfast and i made up myself to climb the tree!!! But then I questioned myself can I do it. Being a scary person and zero experience The answer was a big no. But I could gather all courage together and flashed an idea. I could see a car was parked under the tree and made a plan that I could get on to the car and catch hold of the branches. I pushed myself harder and tapping yes I can do. I could place foot on the car and climb over it. Finally I could hold branches and get hold on to it.

This was really an amazing moment. On top of car there were seeds of jamun ate by birds and purple colour stains left by the jamun. I could pluck a bag full of jamun with my bare hands and handed them over to my mother. At a distance I could notice few maids were cleaning the roads and I thought I could share few of these with them. They help us maintain better environment, we could appreciate their efforts by sharing with them. they will be delighted for this sweet treat after all the hard work they did.

I could pick as many I could and came down, and shared with the fruits with my friends and maids. I felt myself blessed with a jamun tree as it provides shelter, home for birds, and super tasty fruits with the best of nutritional values. This will be on of the best childhood memories I wish I ever had....

Thank you...

TOWARDS KINDNESS

SANSKRITI (VI - D)

I have seen my friend extremely mean,
We friends call her Katherine.
She is between fourteen and fifteen,
She is just like the cat on Halloween.
She was different from my lovable buddy, Jean
She gets angry like a wolverine.
She likes playing on the trampoline,
She keeps constantly yelling like a wicked queen.
But, once I saw her help an old lady on the street,
My conceptions changed for her as she seemed sweet
We became good friends and decided to dine
The moment seemed all nice and fine.

SUMMER

AISHIKA MUKHERJEE (V - B)

The sun shines brightly in the morning
The wind blows faintly
Come the summer has come!
All the happy birdies sing away loudly
Whistling all day long
Come the summer has come!
The flowers bloom on a pretty golden day
In beautiful colors in may
In yellow, red and white
The trees dancing along
The children all singing a song
And skipping and dancing all day long!
The summer has come!

A STORY TO SAY !!

SHIREEN MUKHERJEE (VI - F)

When I was nine,
The world was just fine
But one day
The Covid came to stay
Now no one talks to another
And the Covid went on further
When I was ten ,
Life was like a prison den
The first wave was a disaster
And spread out faster
The second wave came to live
And killed families of five
Now people are too scared
And no one dares
To step out of the house
And the first to come out was a mouse who was dead
Declared in red ;
Stay home ,stay safe
Experts say ;
“ Covid will end one day “
Soon the vaccination
Spread across the nation
I hope one day,
The Covid Times were something to say.

THE WARNING

ANOUSHKA ROY (VIII - B)

From the snow loaded mountains touching the sky,

The flowing waters with millions of tiny settlements by its constantly wet river banks,

The lush green forests symbolizing the heart of our dear mother,

Pour the pure blessings of Mother Earth relentlessly. Alas! Our mother has been well aware of our duly anathematized future,

The river dries up while the heart stops pounding,

Disasters cause the dreadful end of this paradise,

O Mother, we have been drenched in the cold rain of our misdeeds at the end of the day,

Forgiveness be sought and misdeeds are reversed,

Lest humankind meets its fated doom.

THE ESSENCE OF FRIENDSHIP

AARUSHI SINHA (VIII - E)

Mohan and Raju were not only good friends but also very good thieves. They had stolen tons of things from multiple shops and had even got caught by the police once. Raju was dark, skinny, and small while Mohan was tanned, tall, and agile. These two had met each other at the age of 7 and had made an instant connection over their similar personalities and love for food. One day, the two friends decided to cross the river so that they could travel to a nearby farm to steal food. Raju didn't know swimming, so Mohan said to his friend, 'Climb up onto my back and I will swim across the river.' And so, Raju climbed up onto Mohan's back while he swam across the river to the other side. While crossing, Mohan asked Raju, "How come you don't know how to swim? It's a life skill."

Raju shared his story. "Well," he began, "When I was 5, some bullies pushed me into the well. If it hadn't been for some kind passer-by to peek into the well, I would have drowned in it. After that incident, I was too traumatized to try out any water-related activities. That's why I never learned to swim." "Hmm, by the way, we have crossed." Raju got down and they made their way to the farm. When they finally arrived, Raju caught himself a nice roasted chicken on the barbeque while Mohan found some lovely fresh vegetables. Raju gobbled down his chicken and said, 'When I finish eating, I am accustomed to singing.' 'Do not sing just yet,' said Mohan as he was chewing on his dinner of vegetables. 'I have not yet finished eating and if you sing then the farmer will hear you. Let me first finish my dinner and then you can sing as we make our way back home.'

But Raju did not pay any attention to his friend and began to sing at the top of his voice. The farmer soon heard this singing and came running out of his house waving a large stick. 'I will teach you to steal from me!' exclaimed the angry farmer. As Raju was small and nimble, he was able to run away from the farmer and hid in a bush. But poor Mohan who was very slow, and still in the middle of his dinner, did not see the farmer until it was too late. The angry farmer set upon Mohan with his large stick and the poor fellow received many blows to his legs and back before he was finally able to escape.

When Mohan reached the river, his bones ached and he was very upset with his friend. 'Why did you sing when you knew that the farmer would hear you and you could see that I was still eating my dinner?' asked Mohan. 'Because it is my custom,' replied Raju in his matter-of-fact way. 'Now let me climb upon your back so that we may return to our home.'

'Then Mohan walked slowly down the riverbank into the water and began to swim across with Raju on his back. When they were halfway across the river, at the point where the water was at its deepest and the current fastest, Mohan stopped swimming and said, 'When I have finished eating, I am accustomed to taking a bath.' 'Do not take a bath!' pleaded Raju. 'I cannot swim and if you take a bath, I shall drown!' 'I am very sorry,' said Mohan, 'but I always take a bath after I have eaten. It is my custom.' And with that Mohan lowered his back into the deep water until Raju lost his grip on his back and began to splash around helplessly against the fast current. 'Help me!' cried Raju, desperately. 'I am drowning, I am drowning!' Mohan asked Raju, 'Are you sorry that you were so selfish and had me beaten by the farmer?'

'Yes, yes, I am truly sorry!' cried Raju just before his head disappeared once more beneath the surface of the water and placed him upon his back. Then he swam the rest of the way across the river and climbed up the bank and onto the warm grass. Raju realized that he had been very selfish and said to his friend, 'I am so sorry for what I did and I promise that you can trust me forever and that is that.' 'And I am sorry that I had to teach you a lesson today, but many a time in life it is often a case of tit for tat.'

Then the two friends began to laugh and roll around in the warm grass while the sun-dried their wet clothes. Raju had learned a valuable lesson that it was not good to betray a friend and that if you do wrong to someone then somebody might well do wrong to you. It was indeed a lesson of tit for tat.

RAGHUPATI AND THE TRAVELLER

SREE LAASYA PRIYA CHILLARA (IV - J)

Once upon a time there lived a man called Raghupati. One day a man came to his house. He was a traveller. Raghupati was kind. He gave the traveller some food to eat and some place to sleep.

The next day the traveller was preparing to leave. Before leaving he gave Raghupati a bowl and said wherever you need something say "I want" and the name of that thing and it will start producing that product. To make it stop say "enough, enough, enough" and it will stop. Use it wisely.

The traveller left. Raghupati kept the bowl safely in his shelf. One day he did not have money for food so he asked the bowl "I want food" and it started producing food. He said "enough, enough, enough" and it stopped producing. He had a hearty meal. From that day onwards he stopped working. He became arrogant - whenever he needed something he asked the bowl.

One day he thought of asking the bowl lots of money and become rich. As soon as he took the bowl a traveller knocked on the door. He opened the door and said "why do I need to let you come inside my house" and closed the door. He went back and saw that the bowl was missing. He started crying.

Oil
Water -
Chana Dal - 1 cup
Jaggery - 1 cup
Ghee -

First Soak 1 cup of Chana Dal for 1/2 hour

To Prepare Dough:

Take Peni Rava, Water and bowl

First take a bowl and pour 1 cup of Peni Rava and then pour 3 cups of Water and mix them together until getting thin consistency. After getting thin consistency add 3 to 5 tsp of Oil and leave it for 1 hour.

To Prepare Poonam:-

Take the Chana Dal which we soaked before for 1/2 hour.

Take a pressure cooker and add Chana Dal, add 3 cups of Water and 1 tbsp Oil, then close the lid of the pressure cooker till you get 8 to 10 whistles.

After getting 8 to 10 whistles turn off stove.

Stuffing And Rolling Holige Or Bobbatlu

- ① Pinch a medium sized ball from the dough. Gently flatten it with your fingers. You can also use the rolling pin and flatten it.
- ② Place the Chana Dal stuffing ball in the flattened dough.
- ③ Bring together the edges and press them at the center.
- ④ Then flatten the center and gently roll the stuffed dough ball between your palms. To see the method of stuffing and sealing, do check the video embedded above. Stuff the dough balls this way and keep covered with a kitchen napkin, so that they do not dry out.
- ⑤ Place the stuffed dough ball on a rolling board and sprinkle some rice flour or Peni Rava.
- ⑥ Gently roll to a large holige. Add flour as required while rolling.

Cooking Holige Or Bobbatlu

- ① Heat a Dosapan. Then gently place a holige.
- ② Roast till one side is golden and then flip.
- ③ Spread some ghee on this side.
- ④ Flip again and roast the second side till golden.
- ⑤ Spread some ghee on this side too.
- ⑥ Fold and then serve holige. Or you can just lift them and place them in a roti basket, so that Bobbatlu remain warm.
- ⑦ Serve holige with ghee on that.

THE KINGDOMS

SRIKAR MADDHALI (VII - F)

Once upon a time, there were 2 kingdoms: the kingdom of the north and the kingdom of the south. In the kingdom of the north, there were two brothers whose names were Srikar and Anish they were both princes.

They were very happy however their father allied with the king of the south who was a very bad man and had a very spoiled and terrible son who was named Raksha. Their father had promised the king of the south that

Raksha could have 20 percent of his kingdom when he was older.

One day Srikar, Anish, and their father were going hunting when a wolf came out, it was enormous however Anish shot it with a bow and killed it, he said to his father, "Look father I killed the beast" then the father said, "Good job my son wait what's that noise" They went to investigate and found 3 baby wolfs they were all the same color but had different marks on their heads. They felt bad as they had killed the mother so they adopted the baby wolves. Srikar's wolf was named Lucky, Anish's wolf was named Huhyee and the father's wolf was named Chocee.

When they brought the wolves back the Mother was disgusted and said, "Get those THINGS out of here" but then Lucky went and licked her and she said, "Okay fine we can keep them but make sure they don't bite anything or anyone" all of them agreed.

One day Raksha and his father came to the northern kingdom for dinner and Raksha went up to play with Srikar and Anish but their wolves were growling at him Srikar did not think anything of it and let him into his room then they talked about kingdoms but Raksha was hungry so he told Srikar that he was going down while he was going down he bumped into Anish and Anish fell on the ground Huhyee jumped on top of Raksha and bit his arm Raksha ran downstairs and told Srikar and Anish's Father and he said, "Ok I will give you one wish what is it?" Raksha then said, "I want the head of Huhyee." Their father said, "please no my son loves him very much" but Raksha's father said, "You told my son that he had one wish and when he tells it to you you can't fulfill it? you gave him your word!" Srikar and Anish's father sighed and agreed.

The next day Huhyee was captured and Anish said, "I don't know what they will do to you Huhyee but you shouldn't have to bite Raksha" Anish did not know what would happen. After a few hours, it was time, Anish ran as fast as he could but to no avail, it was too late. He cried the entire day.

But then his father walked in with Huhyee. Anish hugged Huhyee and then asked his father, "How is Huhyee alive? I saw him pass away." His father said, "I switched him with Chocee." The father loved his sons more than his wolf. Then they lived happily ever after.

THE WORLD UNDER THE SEA

ADVAITH DHAR (IV - D)

It was the starting of the summer vacation. My friends Aryan, Nayan, Kethan, and I were planning about the things we would do for one day in our summer vacation.

“We can go to the cinema, can't we?” Aryan asked.

“Do you think that we will have fun sitting in a big room and watching a big screen? Hmm ... Well, I think we should do scuba-diving,” Nayan suggested.

We all agreed. “So here's the plan.” I began. “Nayan, as you suggested the topic you will start your zoom meeting today at two o'clock and tell us all the details about the place we will do scuba-diving because at that time our parents will be able to listen to our plan.”

“Ok,” Nayan said.

“Hurray! We are going to do scuba-diving.” We all cheered.

So, at two o'clock as I suggested, we turned on our laptops, joined Nayan's meeting, and asked our parents to come and sit with us as Nayan gave us the details about the place we were going to visit. Our parents agreed to this idea and they even said that they would do scuba-diving with us.

It was only the next day we went to the beach. Wore our scuba gears and dived into the sea! We saw fish of the colors of the rainbow. We also saw many aquatic plants that were of different colors. I found out that the blowfish was the funniest and a dangerous fish in the whole wide world! It was because it would blow up at the moment it was touched. However, suddenly Kethan waved at us to get near him. Nayan, Aryan, and I went after him and understood why he had called us. There was a dark and gloomy cave. We stared at it for a moment and finally thought of exploring it. We all went inside the cave. There was only a tiny opening from where a shallow ray of light came in. I suddenly saw that Nayan's oxygen cylinder was slightly leaking from the outlet cap. I hurriedly tightened it. We kept swimming, but the cave seemed to be unending.

Suddenly, we found ourselves in a village of sea Nymphs. Aryan almost gulped the seawater out of amazement. A sea Nymph came to us and asked, “Why don't you take that thing off your mouth and dine with us at the feast?” We were surprised. We could not believe our eyes! As if she had cast a spell on us - we obeyed her. To our surprise, we could do almost anything we wanted. Even the feast was tasty. After that, the Nymphs brought four finger scanners. They called us and instructed us to put our fingers on it for some reason. As we followed, surprisingly, a picture came in front of us showing us together under the sea. We thanked them for the picture. They said, “Don't harm us. Let's be together and make the earth a beautiful place to live in,” and went away.

We remained speechless! Even today we don't have any clue as to how we swam ashore and reunited with our parents.

EVERYONE HAS THEIR OWN DAY

Amsha.S (VIII - F)

Winning and losing are a part of life. They are two sides of the same coin. Winning and losing come in cycles; neither is permanent. This time I will tell you all why PARTICIPATION is more important than winning or losing!

Who knows that today's winner might be tomorrow's or yesterday's loser and the loser might be tomorrow's or day after's winner!

The winner might be very happy and having a proud moment but he/ she should appreciate the loser because in a competition as without a loser there is no winner! The loser should appreciate the victor because without the victor there would not be any competition. When someone loses, there are enough people to ridicule, criticise and berate the losing team members. Whether it is a sporting encounter or a personal feud, because the losers are already getting together and planning their next move, their comeback, so that they can regain their lost glory. Everyone has their own day!

Take risks in your life,
If you win you can lead but
If you lose you can guide!

WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY

DAVERA SUCHITHA (IX - B)

The environment provides us with essential resources to sustain life on Earth. All living things, including water, air, soil and vegetation form the environment. However, there has been an increase in the contamination and pollution of these precious resources. It is essential to spread awareness and preserve such resources.

World Environment Day is one such an initiative to spread awareness about the conservation and preservation of the environment. Celebrated on June 5th every year, people from all places take part in doing their bit for the environment. World Environment Day is an initiative started by the United Nations as a part of the UN Environment Programme.

The first World Environment Day was celebrated in 1974 in Spokane, USA. Every year a different country hosts World Environment Day with weeklong festivities, including global fairs. World Environment Day provides a platform for everyone around the globe to speak out about issues facing the environment.

DUSK TO DAWN

MY EXPERIENCE IN ISOLATION

ISHITA DADU (VIII - E)

To be locked like never before
And the only hope being staying together
Isolated with my parents I was
We were infected by covid-19 because
My sister, who had never been away from me
Had to be 'I' while supporting me
We had to show the values embedded in us
And help with patience and love
As they say, walls have ears
And it heard all our panic, tears and fears
My family was my soldier
Fighting every second for my dreams
Many lives were at stake including theirs and mine
It still sends shivers down my spine
Life may not let me choose my lot
But in every situation to be loving or not
To fret over everything when it's done
Or learn from it and move on
Covid-19 taught me so much
An important lesson as such
That life is a journey
The long isolation is now just memories
That everything will be alright
Even through the fights and bright lights
We emerged stronger than ever
Learning a lesson to remember forever.

THE TWO BROTHERS

SARTHAK PANDEY (IV - H)

Once there were two brothers named Ramesh and Rohan. Ramesh was elder and very honest while Rohan was younger and very naughty.

One day they both went for a birthday party and while returning they got return gift. Ramesh got block puzzle  and Rohan got bouncing ball . Rohan was not happy with his gift because he liked block puzzle.

But he pretended to be happy with his gift. One day they both were sleeping in their room. Rohan got up and took block puzzle and kept in his bag.

Morning when they both woke up Ramesh could not find his puzzle block and asked Rohan if he knows. Rohan said No, brother I don't know. Ramesh went to his mother and said:

Ramesh: Mom have you seen my block puzzle?

Mom: No no I don't know, go and ask your brother Rohan.

Rohan: Angrily said, I too don't know.

Mom: Rohan tell the truth. you know that if you are lying next day your nose will grow longer.

Rohan got scared and said yes it is with me. Sorry Ramesh I will not do it again.

Ramesh: It's okay. "Let's share, sharing is caring"

Moral - We should always speak the truth and share our things.
